MINOR · D20 FACE 1 01

The Drowning Scale

A cold, clammy pendant on a leather cord, a single shimmering scale of unknown origin. When first worn, everyone nearby shivers. It was pulled from the water at Drowned Elvenya in the Revlend Marshes, and nobody knows what it came off.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · D20 FACE 2 02

The Hourglass of Borrowed Time

A brass hourglass whose sand climbs upward. The Library of Vrassa has no record of lending it, and no record of getting it back.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 3 03

The Black Lotus Case

A black bloom pressed in a lead-lined case, three petals left, still damp. According to the trader who sold it, it was cut at the Oasis of Mother's Tears in the Deadlands.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 4 04

The Oath-Band

A plain iron ring, every oath ever sworn over it scratched inside. The first is in the hand of a Golden Knights recruit, and the Citadel has no record of the ring.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 5 05

The Unpaid Favor

A tin holy symbol, its face rubbed smooth, always warm. It belongs to one of the twelve profane gods of the Temple of the Lower Twelve, and the face has been rubbed past telling which.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 6 06

The Valkyrie's Feather

A gold-barbed feather from a warrior's grave on the far side of an arch, in a world where valkyries still collect the dead.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · D20 FACE 7 07

The Hellhide

Plate made over with a demon's skin, its horns on the helm and its claws on the gauntlets. The skin came out of Irax, the wind-torn hell beyond the hidden archway of the Blood Spears' Watchtower of Averost.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · D20 FACE 8 08

The Kettle Plate

Full plate with two boilers on the back and a servo at every joint. One of a kind, built to someone's measure, and not to yours. The boiler plate is stamped with the mark of Vathrex's Forge.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 9 09

The Fairy Jar

A thumb-high jar of purple glass. Inside, a small furious face swims in mist. The fairy was netted at the Arch of Flowers in Briarheart Forest.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · D20 FACE 10 10

The Apology Blade

A sword cut from the belly of a sea serpent out of Terrache's cavern sea. It still smells of brine, and its edge is clouded like the sky before a storm.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · D20 FACE 11 11

The Rune Fragment

A shard of storm-dark stone veined with silver. One rune on it glows faintly. It was in the hand of an arrival the Archkeepers met, who remembered nothing but its name.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 12 12

The Binding Linens

Strips of old linen that smell of myrrh, with gold-thread hieroglyphs at the ends. They were taken from the temple dead of Arkus.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 13 13

The Rusted Spear

A leaf-bladed spear whose rust never flakes off, however hard you scrub. The Blood Spears of Averost took it from a world they raided, and the watchtower still lists it as unreturned.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 14 14

The Derelict Harpoon

A ship's harpoon with a coil of glowing strand-line, cut from a derelict hull hung in the vines of Drendaan. The line is warm, and it is still wet.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 15 15

The Seekers' Provenance Ledger

A cloth-bound ledger listing a hundred relics by name, maker and rightful owner, in four hands. The last twelve pages are blank and slightly warm. The Museum of Worlds Beyond reports it missing from its archive.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 16 16

The Black Goat's Tally-Stick

A notched black-wood stick as long as a hand, each notch a tab paid or unpaid at the Black Goat's Tavern. A horned goat's single yellow eye is burned into one end.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 17 17

The Gate Chain

Six links of black iron as thick as a wrist, sawn from the chain that once barred the old gate in the City Walls. The wardens who held that gate chained themselves to it. One link is worn bright where a hand held on.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · D20 FACE 18 18

The Sown Teeth

A hide satchel holding a handful of long dragon teeth from Drakeholm that click together like dice.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · D20 FACE 19 19

The Hut on Hen's Legs

A dried hen's foot on an iron ring, warm to the touch. It is the latch-key of a hut that stands on two great scaly legs in Briarheart Forest, near the Arch of Flowers. The hut's last mistress went through the arch and did not come back. The hut has waited, and it is hungry.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · D20 FACE 20 20

The Crafter's Codex

A book too thick to close, its margins written in a dozen hands and a dozen scripts. Every owner added to it; none finished it. It came through an arch in a crate of scrap bound for Vathrex's Forge, and the Forge's smiths want it.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · LEGACY FACE 21 21

The Hexing Needles

Three black needles in a felt roll, and a spool of red thread. The roll is stitched in the style of the Sisters of Dusk, the coven that rules Elgrym in Lady Straythe's name.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · LEGACY FACE 22 22

The Bear-Lodge Horn

A hunting horn carved from the jawbone of a great white bear, banded in black iron and scored with a lodge's tally of hunts. It came through an arch from a world of ice. The lodge that blew it has not stopped looking.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · LEGACY FACE 23 23

The Axe of Nine Eyes

A silvery greataxe with nine open eyes engraved down the blade. They follow whoever speaks. It came out of Graydust Keep, which has changed hands hundreds of times since the fall of the Nameless King, and the Fallen Angels who hold the keep now want it back.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · FACTION REWARD 24

The Arch-Watch Mirror

A mirror taller than a man in a frame of blackened ash. Its surface moves like still water. The glass was ground at the Observatory of Infinite Skies.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAJOR · FACTION REWARD 25

The Forgotten Key

A tarnished iron key, not sized for any human lock. Found in rubble beneath the Theater of Whispers, its bow etched with a spiral that matches no arch in the city's records.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · FACTION REWARD 26

The Pitch-Sap Harness

Three layers of wood glued with sap that never dries, its outer layer bristling with thorns. The wood was cut in the Lost Cavern of the Sundering Saurians, from a jungle tree that offered it, and it still smells of the mist.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · FACTION REWARD 27

The Seven-Leaf Bracelet

A silver bracelet of seven linked leaves, cool as morning dew. It was found at the root of the oldest tree in Sunset Grove, and Graysen One-Eye would like to know who took it.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MINOR · FACTION REWARD 28

The Tide-Coat

An eel-skin suit that covers you head to heel, crusted with barnacles. Underwater it hums.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

Mud from the Revlend Marshes

A sealed clay jar of dark grey mud from the Revlend Marshes north of the city, marked with protective runes no one recognises as any known system. The mud is warm to the touch and smells of rain before a storm. It never dries out. An arch-traveller carried it into the city claiming the marshes spoke to her. She didn't explain further. She is not currently available to explain anything.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

The Ancestor's Knucklebone

A knucklebone worn smooth by a hundred years of handling, threaded on gut string. Taken from the body of a Berserker who died fighting in the Borderlands and was never retrieved. It arrived in a collector's satchel through one of the Market Square arches, and nobody knows which world it came from, or who carried it through.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

The Battle Standard of the Nameless King

A black iron battle standard, the insignia ground off but the pole still bearing ghost-traces of a name no one can read. Found stacked with other confiscated relics in the Museum of Worlds Beyond storage vault. The curator will not release it without a writ. Three scholars have separately attempted to identify the insignia's origin and stopped work without explanation.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

The Bell of the Three Sisters

A small iron handbell, tarnished green at the rim, engraved with three interlinked rings. Identical to the bells carried by the clergy of the Temple of the Three Sisters, except that this one rings slightly differently, a half-note flat or sharp depending on who you ask. The temple says it was never consecrated. They are interested in recovering it for study. They have not offered to pay.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

HUNTER · CLASS ARCANUM 33

The Borderlands Tracking Cord

A length of braided sinew hung with small carved tokens: a boot print, a feather, a fang, and three others worn unrecognisable by handling. Carried by a tracker from the Doorish Hills who traded it to a Lower Reaches merchant for safe passage through the Cliffs of the Dead. The merchant did not survive the arrangement.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

OATHSWORN · CLASS ARCANUM 34

The Broken Verdict

A set of golden scales, one pan snapped off and missing. Recovered from the rubble of an old court in the ruins of Sunken Revvia. The remaining pan still tilts when a lie is spoken nearby, or so the merchant who sold it claimed. She may have been lying. The tilt is subtle enough that you cannot always be certain.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

MAGE · CLASS ARCANUM 35

The Cracked Lens of Kartan

A monocle lens of blue glass, cracked through the centre but held in a copper frame that prevents the crack from spreading. Stamped with the Mages of Kartan's maker's mark on the inner rim. The Mages report it stolen. It has been in a Lower Reaches pawn shop for six months, priced too high for anyone who recognised it, too strange for anyone who didn't.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

SHADOWMANCER · CLASS ARCANUM 36

The Hollow Contract

A slip of black vellum the size of a playing card, written in a language that changes every time you look away. No ink is visible: the text appears to be burned into the material from within. Found pressed between the floorboards of a sealed room in the Lower Reaches, below a building that has been empty for eleven years. The landlord will not say why.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

The Loaded Die

An ivory gambling die with a tiny lead insert that makes it land on 6 roughly two-thirds of the time. Confiscated from a Black Hand card sharp at the Lower Reaches gambling house, then stolen from the evidence shelf at the Golden Knights' outpost. No paperwork exists for it. The card sharp has not stopped looking.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

The Pain Teacher's Wrappings

Linen hand wrappings, yellowed and stained, covered in faded ink annotations, technique notes in a script that predates the city. Found in a locked case in the Lower Reaches beneath a martial arts studio that has been occupied by different teachers for four centuries. Each teacher added their own notes in the margins. The last teacher's annotations stop mid-sentence, mid-technique.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE

The Theater of Whispers Setlist

A folded sheet of vellum with a handwritten set of songs: titles, keys, and performance notes in the margins in an elegant hand. It belonged to a Songweaver who performed at the Theater of Whispers for fifteen years before disappearing mid-run. The theater kept the setlist. Someone stole it last month. The manager has posted a reward, but is vaguer than expected about what they want to do with whoever took it.

UNLOCK

POWER

PRICE